

Faiths of Sigil Prep

(In which the author indulges himself)

Sigil Prep prides itself on being among the most inclusive schools in the known multiverse, and as a result, it has no official religion. But the student body worships a wide variety of deities and faiths, depending on where they come from, or personal interest. (Once you've discovered there's a god specifically devoted to rice, and you really like yourself some rice...)

Some gods might exist in more than one pantheon. For example, Bane is a deity in both Faerun and the world, and Orcus the demon lord is the same Orcus who is god of undeath on Manifest. In some cases, they may not even serve the same purpose from place to place: Tyr is a war god to the Norse, but only a god of justice to citizens of the Forgotten Realms.

Regardless, for no especially good reason, here is a list of many of the deities and other powers recognized by Sigil Prep, by pantheon.
