

Druid Students

Freshman Druids

Doen Greener

Race: Cliffwalker Shifter

Class: Druid Druidic Circle: Circle of Squirrels

Doen is an energetic and easily distractible young woman who, frankly, loves squirrels. More than she likes you. She enjoys things squirrels enjoy, such as climbing, hiding things and forgetting she hid them (or even had them), and eating nuts. She can often be seen in the Grove, giving names to the innumerable squirrels who live there (and more importantly, remembering all those names) and tossing acorns onto the heads of anyone she thinks is annoying. Which is you.

(Doen Greener is a PC from my Sigil Prep game; thanks to her player)

Sophomore Students

Ochre Jerry

Race: Human

Class: Druid Druid Circle: Circle of Spores

He appears quite slovenly, even gross, what with all the slime dripping off him, but Ochre Jerry is... well, 'gross' is probably a good word. He's decently friendly, but he's mostly just fascinated by mold and slime, and raises several specimens in several containers around his dorm room. He tends to leave them in unpleasant places, though, like the fridge in the lounge and bathroom.

(In 3rd edition games, he has the Oozemaster prestige class.)

Winter White

Race: Human

Class: Druid Druid Circle: Circle of the Shepherd

If the leather shield and the sickle didn't paint her as a Druid, the fact that she's constantly followed around by songbirds and tiny mammals would probably give it away. Absurdly happy all the time, she seems to have an extreme fondness for dwarves and goes about patting them on the head. It's unclear if it's a romantic or sexual attraction, as no dwarf can stand that much cheeriness long enough to ask her out.

Junior Druids

Autumn Twilight and Spring Dawning

Race: Half-Elf

Class: Druid Druid Circle: Circle of the Moon

Except that Autumn is dark-skinned with tawny-brown hair, and Spring is pale-skinned with almost greenish brown hair, they could pass as twins. Hailing from Krynn, the two girls have been inseparable friends since childhood, and that's almost literal. You never see the one without the other, and if engaged in conversation with them, you could be answered by one as easily as the other. They're among the druid students who have chosen to live in the Grove, so any visit to that area could lead to an encounter with them. They're extremely good at offering adventure hooks, as they seem to always be aware when some important piece of nature or other is threatened.

Vadania Summerbreeze

Race: High Elf

Class: Druid Druid Circle: Circle of the Land

Mialee's little sister, Vadania is one of the most well-known Druids on campus, mostly for her generally confused and easily distracted personality. Seriously, what's she been smok... Oh, I get it. Anyway, she's extremely laid back, and will converse readily with anyone who approaches her, although her responses may only make sense in her clouded-over mind.

If actually caught sober, which is rare, she reverts to a bratty little sister mode, making snappy comments to Mialee and bragging about how Mom likes her best. Mialee, for her part, grudgingly accepts it, because she knows she's going to have to suffer the blame for "letting her sister get into this mess" if Mom ever sees Vadania in her... ahem, natural state.

Vadania has a wolf animal companion named Dessen who is just so much smarter than she is. He has mastered the eye roll and is fully aware when Vadania has done something dumb. If Vadania finds herself in trouble, Dessen may seek out the PCs (assuming he can't find Mialee) and do that Lassie "point and bark" thing until they follow him.

Likes: this stuff over here is pretty good, oh and that stuff over there, yeah

Hates: Not being able to find her stuff

Goals: What? Oh, hey.

(Vadania is based on a portrait character from the Player's Handbook (2000; 2003); property of WotC)

Senior Druids

Willow

Race: Dryad

Class: Druid Druid Circle: Circle of the Land

Willow is surprisingly un-naturist for a druid. She loves nature and all, sure why not, but she prefers to eat indoors and eat food that was cooked with ingredients and methods. She's prefer a nice restaurant to a picnic, is what we're saying. She has a passion for cheerleading unmatched by most of her fellow cheerleaders, and she enjoys travel, often difficult for dryads.

Fortunately, she's found a way to transform her bonded oak tree into a tattoo, which she wears on her forearm, and she can manifest it at any time when she needs to rest. Home is literally wherever she is.
